Is Everyone Happy? Thai Smiles? Or ?

Well -Jathuporn got hit with a suspended jail term for telephone eaves dropping. Yingluk is in Paris with her brother Thaksin enjoying baguettes and espressos...Suthep shaved his head and joined the monks in Surat Thani.. And the Military has been cleaning up the cities and giving out free stuff like Movie tickets and even just had a weekend long "Happiness Festival" where bands played free and they gave out free fried chicken.. The tourists seem to be comfortable with coming back to the "land of Smiles" once again too— So, from a fish tank view, all seems splendid... The block on multiple visa runs has pissed off several expats—but WTF? The general feeling is that Thailand is back on some sort of track-however, there are still political driven forces at bay and you know the quote: "Idle Hands are the devil playground"? So we will see. For now, most people in Thailand can enjoy a seemingly placid shift from the Chaos of the months past...

WTF is this “Black Baby” About?

If you have been in Thailand for a while, you more than likely have seen the “Black Baby Doll” or maybe even saw someone smothered in black makeup wearing an afro and an orchid garland dancing around. This doll or costume would not fly over too well in the “politically correct USA”, but in Thailand, this Black Baby is something special—thus, I inquired. The Thais I talked to explained a story that goes roughly like this:

A Queen gave birth to a conch shell— so the King booted her and the shell from the palace. She ended up taking a job doing house work and one day a baby popped out of the shell. The king found out about this and ordered the Ex-Queen and son to be pushed on a raft out to the sea. They got split up in a storm and mom landed in some area and found a rich guy she could live with and cook for. Conch shell boy ended up getting raised by a horrible ogre. The Ogre had lots of gold however.. One Day, Conch Shell Boy took a swim in a pool of gold and got a great Golden body— But others still only saw him in the Black Native Afro Style. His name thus became Jow Ngaw (Jatuporn). Jow eventually escaped the Ogre and found a step mom. However she did not last long— She died one day from crying to death because there was an invisible barrier between her and Jow Ngaw. Jow eventually found himself in another village and took care of Buffalos and played with the kids. One day there was a call for all the princes to come and be picked by the 7 princesses. The last princess picked Jow Ngaw because she could see through his tribal “get-up” and knew he was really “the Golden Boy”. But the king did not buy it and he expelled them both. The King decided he needed a reason to execute Jow— so he set up a competition that would find Jow squaring off with the other 6 princess. The competition was to go hunt for a Stag in the forest. Jow had a spell left over from his dead step mom that he used it— ALL the stags in the forest came to him! All the other princes came to beg Jow for a stag. Jow asked for part of their ears in return. The King was pissed about all the princes with parts of their ears missing, so a Second completion was declared— This time Fishing! Same thing happened— but this time Jow took part of all of their noses. Long Story short— it came down to another challenge and the King lost and died cause Jow had flying shoes. Jow ended on a farm and he tasted his moms food and found out the lady cooking was his Real Mom.. He also somehow found his Dad— the King and forgave him for booting him and Mom to sea.. Jow eventually became the King and was known as the Golden King and his mom and dad fell in love again but never figured out why she gave birth to a Shell... They all lived happily ever after. So Thais see Jow Ngaw as a good luck symbol and use the Tale of Jow Ngaw or (Jatuporn) as a “don’t judge a book by it’s cover” moral story.. Giving a black baby doll is good luck for birthdays too....Now you know and thus should be less confused when you see this Strange site in Thailand.. Thai Folk Stories Rock !!

Most people HATE filling out Surveys.. The BP understands this... However we are REALLY working on changing things inside the Black Pagoda to make it a better place. What we need is to know from our customers what they see and what they think would make their experience better when they visit. We have already got good feed back from several surveys that were filled in and we are working on implementing these changes.

The Survey is on-line and very simple and fast to do... ALL you need to do is take three minutes— Go to the Black Pagoda Web Site:

www.blackpagoda-bangkok.com
CLICK on the Survey button and fill out a few multiple choice questions . IF you do this and snap shot the “Completed Survey” page or Do the Survey while inside the BP, show the staff and get a FREE drink of choice..

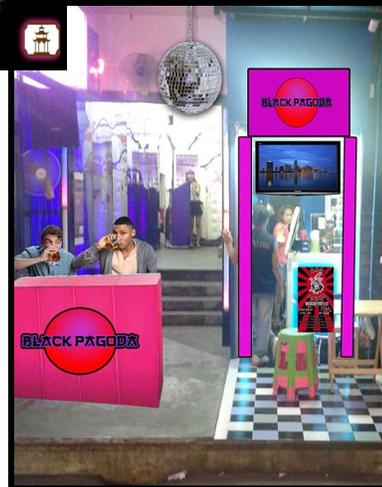

We appreciate the feedback be it BAD or Good.. As we approach a potentially “trouble free” high Season, we are working to make the BP The # 1 party spot in Bangkok... We know there are lots of things we can do to improve..let us know your opinion and ideas and we will work on it... Again— Thanks in advance if you help by doing this survey...

The NEW PR Station Bar...

The BP has acquired the VERY small downstairs Entry way- THUS allowing us to make a PR station / Small three seat bar at our entry way. Better looking entry = entry way for the BP as well as allow for the "I'm scared to go to the third floor" nay-sayers" to be convinced by our lovely PR team that the BP is a legit place that will not lock the doors behind you once inside and charge you 10,000 baht for a smoking vagina show... We will have a Disco ball downstairs to light the way- a TV showing videos of the BP and the Small bar serving discount drinks for the guys who want a "Drink to think about it"... WE will expand and improve the entry way step by step.. But we are sure that it will greatly improve the Entry to the Bar... Yes- the elevator and stairway needs work too, but you have to admit there is a bit of fun taking a friend through the bowels on inner city Bangkok Décor and aroma of cat urine before coming into the clean and cool place like the BP! As I have always said- half the fun is seeing someone's face as they make the trip through patpong and into that hallway and elevator only to be pleasantly surprised at the end results once inside the BP.. THAT and then the Magic moment they go to the Bathroom and are not forced to be in locker/ storage/ girls changing room that has a urinal full of moth balls and limes. I swear to god that some guys hold their bathroom break till they get to the BP as the Bathroom is one of the better ones in BKK.. Anyway- drop by and have a drink downstairs before you come up- chat with the Lovely PR team - or stop at the Pr station on your way out for "One more for the road" ..

Artist rendering of the NEW area Look.. It will look better than this... but ... use your imagination.... ALL you have to know is that the Entry way will look much better in the weeks to come!!!

DISCO ROBOT PARTY Sat, AUG 9th

Otherwise there is a small door fee that comes with drink upon entry... The Disco Robot Events are always fun and never short of a Party worth Prowling for...
